

“As a songwriter from South Africa, it has always been difficult to get songs placed overseas. But with Music Xray’s help, one of my songs has just been accepted by an American publishing company for representation. We have Music Xray to thank for connecting us with the overseas music world.”

“I also want to let you guys know – since I started with Music Xray, I have been able to acquire literally hundreds of fans through FanMatch. These are real fans that seem to like my music and have offered me their email addresses so I can keep them posted on my progress.”

“We, Light Drive, just finished our first single and were selected 4 times! I am very excited to see where this might take us. There is no way I could have found the people that are now working with us by myself.”

“The site is easy to use and the diagnostics are a huge help for pinning down the songs that are likely to make an impact on listeners. It’s a great motivator towards creating new and better work.”

“You cover all the bases from opportunities to helpful hints and advice from experienced professionals. In my view, anyone who does not take advantage of the services you provide are missing out on the inside info required to establish themselves.”

“I have had a lot of success using Music Xray – Paul Milner, a Canadian producer picked my song “So Long” for his artist. The same song has also been pitched to Selena Gomez through Music Xray. Even when songs haven’t been selected, it’s opened up great relationships with producers. Thanks Music Xray!”

My song “Ready For You Now” was submitted to a popular Music Blogger, Bill CS of the BILLCS Music Blog. Bill contacted me about the song, saying he loved it. He has written a piece about my music on his blog and it has also entered the Top 30 on his Music Blog Countdown. It’s been great to be in contact with Bill. He is a great guy and I hope to meet many more like him through Music Xray.”

“I looked at Music Xray a year ago and didn’t take the plunge as I didn’t think you had enough of a track record. One year on and I came upon your site again, watched your tutorial videos, and knew that you were obviously clued in with MIP’s. I think you have really opened up the industry to people like me who write songs and most of all want to get them heard all the way through.”

Richard Walker

“I always believed in your approach. I think you’ve just experienced the tip of the iceberg though. I really like the stats. I didn’t like them at first because they were brutal, but it helps me focus on what’s working and canning what isn’t.”

“I’ve gotten farther ahead, faster, with Music Xray than with any other company that I have dealt with in the past. Thanks!”

“Just want to stop by and say thanks for this great site, now my songs have representation in the big world outside of Ireland.”

Mark Leen

“Thank you Music Xray for helping make February 2014 one of the most exciting and rewarding months of my career to date. My single “Good Morning” was selected for EIM’s catalog and is now streaming in commercial retail locations and food & breakfast outlets. I can’t thank you guys enough for opening up these avenues and allowing industry professionals to be more accessible and open!”

“As a musician and songwriter from Ireland, I joined Music Xray to try and connect my music to the worldwide marketplace. Since joining my song “Reload” has been selected for rotation on World Wide Indie Radio, which has been a huge step forward in increasing the number of potential fans of my music. Without Music Xray, none of this would have been possible.”

“I can say my experience with Music Xray was great, it opened a new horizon for me. A world I wanted to get into and wouldn’t have if it wasn’t for this platform.”

Yonatan Rukhman

“Thanks so much Music Xray for connecting us to so many great industry folks and opening the doors for us....they just keep on opening!”

“I signed on Feb. 25th with Mr. King and N.T.L.K Publishing by submitting to your site. Mr. King is very professional and hands on, from helping me sign the contract to transitioning my music over. Again thanks a million for the Music Xray platform, giving me the chance to get my songs out to the world even from this small town of Eunice, LA. I would like to say to everyone: keep dreaming and don’t give up, invest and believe in yourself and keep submitting to Music Xray!”

Sam Tumblin

“Music Xray really works! Lions Named Leo have had many selections, including airplay for our song “Say,” commercial placement, and more! I highly recommend Music Xray, thanks for such a viable platform that really does level the playing field!”

“Our band, Family Reunion, is a “virtual” band with members scattered across the country. We create music by sharing and editing files back and forth, then combining those into finished songs. Needless to say, we are unable to tour as a unit. However, with Music Xray we are able to take full advantage of licensing opportunities just the same as traditional bands. We’re very grateful to Music Xray for making these available to us. And we look forward to sharing more opportunities with them in the future!”

“I recently submitted for publishing consideration through Music Xray and was pleasantly surprised to receive a direct response that was not generic in nature. As an independent, it is very helpful to have someone who can at least direct me on where to place my best songs. It’s actually better than a publishing deal for me, in the regard that I am not locking all of my creativity into a company that may not adequately give my music the attention it deserves.”
